

NCDO is the Dutch knowledge and advisory center for global citizenship. NCDO Research conducts opinion research into the knowledge, attitudes, opinions and behaviors of Dutch citizens with regard to global citizenship and international development. To inform and engage Dutch citizens with regard to their role in the world, NCDO publishes factsheets and dossiers about pressing global issues. The selection presented below gives an impression of NCDO's research activities.

GLOBAL
CITIZENSHIP
FROM PUBLIC SUPPORT TO ACTIVE PARTICIPATIONGlobal citizenship

Authors: Christine Carabain and colleagues (Available in English)

What is global citizenship, according to the most relevant scientific literature? This explorative study forms the basis for NCDO's research, training and knowledge sharing.

TRENDGlobal citizenship among Dutch adults, youth and children

Authors: Christine Carabain and colleagues

This annual research study explores the extent to which Dutch adults, adolescents (12-18 years old) and children (9-12 years old) behave as global citizens.

Global citizenship in education

Author: Lette Hogeling

This trend research gives insight into the opinions, attitudes and experiences of primary and secondary education teachers in relation to global citizenship.

Dutch consumers and fairtrade

Author: Irene de Goede

This trend research explores such questions as: how many Dutch households have bought fair trade food products over the years? What fair trade products do they usually buy? And who are the main buyers?

ACTUALITYPartnerships

Author: Gabi Spitz

The number of socially responsible cross-sectorial partnerships is growing rapidly. This factsheet sheds light on the benefits, risks and success factors of partnerships between NGO's and business.

Dutch citizens on poverty alleviation

Author: Lette Hogeling and colleagues

In 2015 the millennium development goals will end. Currently, global discussions are taking place about the forthcoming post-2015 agenda. This opinion study explores how Dutch citizens perceive this agenda.

New agenda for aid and trade

Author: Edith van Ewijk

In April 2013 Minister Lilianne Ploumen presented the new agenda for aid, trade and investments. This factsheet explains the main starting points of the new Dutch policy for aid and trade.

Dutch consumers and the Bangladeshi garment industry

Author: Evelien Boonstoppel and Christine Carabain (Available in English)

Almost all clothes sold in the Netherlands are produced in developing countries. This opinion study asks whether consumers would pay more for their clothing to ensure a safe working place for its producers.

Sustainable, fair clothing

Author: Céline Hoeks (available in English)

On the 24th of April 2013, the Rana Plaza in Bangladesh collapsed. This factsheet informs Dutch consumers how they can help to improve the working conditions of the people who make their clothes.

Dutch citizens and international governance

Author: Evelien Boonstoppel

This opinion research explores the attitudes of Dutch citizens towards four global problems that took place at the end of 2012: the conflict in Syria, rising food prices, the Greek debt crisis, and climate change?

IN-DEPTH

Poverty alleviation in the 21st century

Author: Gabi Spitz

The world looks different today than it did ten years ago, and the urgency for effective global governance to resolve trans-boundary issues is rising. This dossier sheds light on the post-2015 development agenda.

CSR 2.0

Author: Sylvana Rikkert

What will sustainable business look like in the near future? And what can companies, the government and Dutch society do to stimulate CSR 2.0? These are questions that are addressed in this dossier.

Food security

Author: Gabi Spitz

How to feed the next generation when considering population growth, climate change and resource scarcity? This dossier explains the global food issues in light of these challenges, now and in the future.

EVALUATION

Evaluation Habbo goes to Parliament

Author: Marije van Gent

This report evaluates the Coolpolitics campaign “Habbo goes to parliament”. The objective of the campaign is to engage young people in politics in creative and accessible ways.

Learning from a serious game?

Author: Marije van Gent

This report evaluates the effects of a serious game, created by Butch & Sundance Media, about the global food crisis and entitled “On the ground reporter: Uganda”.

NCDO IN THE MEDIA

NRC Next

“Dutch people do worry about Syria” in national newspaper NRC Next (E. Boonstoppel & C. Carabain, 18th of January 2013) about “Dutch citizens and international governance”.

De Telegraaf

“Consumers neglect drama garment industry” in national newspaper De Telegraaf (S. van Alphen, 10th of May 2013) about “Dutch consumers and the Bangladeshi garment industry”.

De Volkskrant

“Fairtrade in the Netherlands is rising” in national newspaper De Volkskrant (J. van der Ploeg, 21st of June 2013) about “Dutch consumers and fairtrade 2012”.

RTL 4

RTL Boulevard. Minister Ploumen refers to the research “Dutch Consumers and the Bangladeshi garment industry”.

UPCOMING RESEARCH

Actuality:

Dutch citizens on the new agenda for aid and trade
Children and their perspectives on sustainability
Parental involvement in civic education
Just water!?! Dutch children on water

In-depth:

Global public goods
Climate
Raw materials
Knowledge for development

RESEARCH ON REQUEST

NCDO conducts research independently and on demand for external parties. If you are interested in contracting NCDO to conduct research for your organization or company, please contact us for more information: onderzoek@ncdo.nl.